METROPOL

Like a pearl hanging from a thread, Metropol begins with a single lamp. Its clever form delivers beauty as a sophisticated wall sconce or as stacked singles, doubles and triples – suspended as simple pendants or curated into organic groupings and grand chandeliers.

Central to Metropol's design is the distinctive trifoliate form in combination with the innovative use of light. Where shadows would normally exist along the converging line of each form, in Metropol, these fine seams are used to wrap a beautiful, soft cast of light around the luminaire.

Metropol's strength is in its quiet charisma. Its design is one of intricacy and sophistication.

Rather than overpowering a space, it leaves room for the architecture to stand out, making it a particularly versatile lighting collection. Through its modular design and refined finishes, Metropol finds its full creative potential in the hands of the architect and designer.

“ it’s about craftsmanship, about quality, about real materials and function, but also about the beauty of a product. I’m always trying to balance the beauty with the function of an object.”

Sebastian Herkner

“Glass - it’s precious, so you have to take care of it. And there is no better material to work with, for light.”

SEBASTIAN HERKNER

Sebastian Herkner established his design studio in Offenbach, Germany in 2006. Since that time, he has designed furniture, lighting and products for brands all around the world. Sebastian's design ethos is driven by quality and function as well as tradition and innovation. His designs are very personal, developed using intuition and instinct, working with brands who share his vision and responsibility for products.

Named Maison & Objet's 2019 Designer of the Year, Sebastian's works have won numerous accolades – among others the IF Award, the Iconic Award and the Elle Deco International Design Award (EDIDA).

Rakumba is the first Australian brand collaboration for Sebastian. Despite operating on opposite sides of the globe, the collaboration with Rakumba's product development team has been close and intense, continuing our international design legacy and yielding results that speak for themselves.
